

$2 - 3 Million Cost for High School Addition

NEW CONSTRUCTION DROPPED IN 1969

Permits for new construction in Wilmington had a significant drop during the calendar year 1969, according to a report prepared in the office of the Building Inspector of Wilmington.

During the year 1968 there were building permits for 131 new homes and 12 industrial buildings, to mention the two chief categories. The declared value of the homes was $2,010,050, and the declared value of the industrial buildings was $6,517,000. The grand total declared value was $10,596,550.

The result of the 1968 building brought the town's total assessed valuation to $111,859,900.

But 1969 was a different story. Permits were taken out for 66 homes - 65 less than in 1968. The declared value was $1,075,000 - almost a million dollars less.

Permits were taken out for 14 industrial buildings, two more than in 1968, but the total declared value was $4,387,790 - which is $2,129,210 off the 1968 figure.

The total declared valuation, of building permits in 1969, was only $6,569,665.

About forty town officials and a few spectators were told, Monday night, in the High School Library, that another 100,000 square feet was needed for Wilmington High School. Present construction costs were cited as $28 a square foot in Andover, and $21.46 a square foot in Peabody.

The present school building is of 118,000 square feet. To add to this would require another section, which could be of two or three stories. The estimated time of construction was put at two to three years.

Walter Pierce, Acting Superintendent of Schools, was the principal speaker. He was introduced by William Fay, Chairman of the Wilmington School Committee.

Pierce told the assembled group that the School Board, in 1968, had told Hill & Associates to complete a prior study, which included an educational design report; an inspection of existing facilities; Educational Specifications; and Evaluation Modification. In the third phase of their study they had recommended 311,000 square feet.

The School Committee, Pierce said, had decided to reduce the Hill & Associate total area requirements, after a study report by high school personnel and surveys of other high schools and plans.

In order to add 100,000 square feet to the present school building more land would be needed. Pierce said the decision was to expand to 29 acres, from the present 17.9 acres.

This would entail the take-over of the Grange Hall property, on Wildwood Street, plus property of Frotton and Luongo, on that street, in part. About 4 acres of swamp land, in back of the Fenton home on Adams Street would be needed, and there would have to be an agreement for mutual use of parking facilities, in back of the First Baptist Church, property owned by the Baptist Convention.

The addition to the High School would result in an additional 20 to 25 class rooms, depending on design. Bernard McMahon, High School principal, told the group that there wasn't always 25 or so pupils to a class, that sometimes there had to be classes of 10. The present high school capacity is being used, he said, 'about 99%.'

Pierce said that the Educational Specifications could be ready in 'early spring', and that he hoped to have eight or ten meetings with the General Public, before the final decision is made in Town Meeting, in order that the public know and understand the problems.

Robert Michelson of the Permanent Building Committee wanted to know if the State Building Assistance Commission would approve of an addition. Pierce said they 'were hard' at first, because the SBAB wanted a new school, but that on further consultation they had agreed to adding to the present facility.

The present high school, with room for 1100 to 1200 pupils, was constructed in three parts, in 1951, 1956 and 1959. The addition would make a school for about 1600 pupils.

There are no time schedules, as yet, Pierce told Joseph Courtney of the Finance Committee. Courtney asked about a new Intermediate School. Pierce was of the belief that this question could be solved by additions to the present schools. There was sufficient land, he said.

There would be no immediate need for expanding the elementary schools, because of the new Shawheen School, now building, but there would be in five years a need for 20 to 25 additional intermediate classrooms.

The Story of Photon and Photo Typesetting

It was 15 years ago that Photon located in Wilmington, in a nice building on Middlesex Avenue that some people said looked like a new modern school.

It was a small company, with a unique idea in type setting, photo typesetting. The first complete model of the machine had been completed in 1946, and the first completely automatic prototype in 1948.

The machine became fully operational in 1949, even if it did not yet incorporate all the typographic versatility deemed necessary.

A significant step for Photon was in 1952, when the first book to be completely produced on a photo-typesetter was made. It was 'The Wonderful World of Insects' by Albro T. Gaul, still a treasured item in many households, and was published simultaneously in 1953 by Rinehart & Company in the United States, and by Clarke, Irwin & Company, in Canada.

The company did not consider their first phototypesetter to be versatile enough for a commercial use. Development continued until the machine held and mixed 12 sizes of each of 16 different typefaces, a total of 192 fonts of type at a time. The Photon company then began to fill orders from the patiently waiting printers and publishers, and the first models were delivered early in 1954, while the firm was still in Cambridge.

Further improvements were in the making, and in 1954 Photon began to make the now widely used 200 Admaster series of phototypesetters.

There was still research to be done, and for the next several years the company was engaged in developing other phototypesetter models, particularly for the automatic tape-driven applications. The Model 250 Tapemaster is the latest model in a series that is driven by both direct keyboard and by perforated paper tape.

The development of the 500 Displaymaster series, to help in the composition of advertisements, kept pace with the use of general purpose computers for phototypesetting. These are models that do not have keyboards, but are driven directly from computer-generated paper tape. The low cost Model 560 is the latest in this series.

In 1965 Photon introduced the high-speed, typographically versatile, and computer-compatible 713 Textmaster series. Model 713-10 images 25 characters per second, and its output is 40 newspaper lines per minute. Its photo unit holds and automatically mixes 8 sizes, from 5 to 36 points in size, of each of 8 different and changeable 96 character typefaces. One of these is now to be installed in the Town Crier office.

Other machines of the 713 model can produce 100 to 200 lines per minute, and set composition up to 15 inches wide.

Photon also, in 1965, introduced the ultra high-speed Zip machine. It images (prints) up to 800 characters per second, and is driven by computer-generated magnetic tape. It is still the fastest direct-photo imaging system in the world, and is used mainly in the composition of directories, catalogues, and listings that are the products of computer data processing. Telephone books, for example, can be produced at an amazing rate of speed by the ZIP.

In 1967 Photon produced System G. This consists of graphics input consoles, and automates the creation and production of the engineering schematics, and it makes possible the storage of all drawing material and data, in the computer, for later retrieval and updating. It is used widely in the architectural and engineering field.

Two years ago Photon introduced the solid-state Keycomp tape perforating keyboard. These high speed, hard-copy, tape perforators were designed to increase the tape production, with instant and simplified push button access to the full range of the 713 automatic typographic functions. It allows the operators to concentrate on speed and accuracy of copy.

Last year Photon introduced the 532 Fontmaster, which holds and mixes 640 fonts of type at a time, and is tape operated. It produces copy at twice the speed of other 'disc' machines, and its two discs hold 32 different typefaces, each of which can be set in 20 different sizes.

Such production and development are meaningful, in growth, too.

Twice Photon has increased the size of its original building, on Middlesex Avenue.

Now it has purchased (1969) the former Eagle Can Company building on Concord Street.

In the new building Photon International is now located, together with room for further Research and Development, and some of the subsidiary operations.

THE LATEST ACQUISITION: Of Photon is this building on Concord Street, with about 55,000 square feet of working space. It houses Photon International, and several subsidiary operations, and a large part of the building is devoted to Research and Development.

1969 SAW GENERAL ELECTRIC move part of its facility from West Lynn into these buildings on Fordham Road, and then be closed by a strike which is still continuing. Construction continues, meanwhile, on a third building, between the original two, marked by the crane

1969 Was Expansion Year for Compugraphic

THE NEW COMPUGRAPHIC BUILDING: Overlooking Route 93, and located on Industrial Way, in South Wilmington. Measuring 70,000 square feet in area, it is already too small for the company's operations, and an addition is now being built.

1969 was a significant year in the growth of Compugraphic, a Wilmington company that has been growing almost like Topsy for the past several years.

It moved into Wilmington a few years ago, with a 15,000 square foot building on Concord Street. Within a year the company found that it would have to expand that building to 30,000 square feet.

Shortly afterwards it rented a 20,000 square foot building in another town, and began plans for a building on Industrial Way, overlooking Route 93.

That building, 70,000 square feet in area, was completed early in 1969, and since then the company has made plans, and a start of the construction of another building of the same size, in back of the one on Industrial Way.

The secret? Compugraphic is in the business of making photo type setting machines for the needs of the smaller newspapers - and it cannot keep up to the demand. It manufactures half a dozen different models, and none of them seem to gather any dust standing in warehouse.

Very quietly, in 1969, the company began plans to make a photo type setter that would sell for the price of $4500. It would set type from six point to 12 point, with (for the reader's benefit) an eight point type being 1/8 of an inch high.

The company introduced their new product on December 4th., in Atlanta Georgia, and it was an instant success. It is known as the Model CG 2970 phototypesetting machine.

Booth sales, in the three day period in Atlanta, exceeded $100 thousand. The company attributes the outstanding acceptance to the overall price/performance ratio. The new machine equals others which sell for a price of over $6,000.

Harold Evans, who is the marketing manager for Compugraphic says that the sales were even greater than anticipated, and has resulted in an upward swing for the projected sales of 1970.

Deliveries and installation of the new CG 2970 has already begun, he says, and the company expects to have several of the new systems in operation within the next 30 days.

1970 Makes a First for Avco

The Avco Systems Division of Avco, in 1970, is to construct a magnetic storm spacecraft system for the U.S. Air Force under a $1.2 million prime contract awarded by the Air Force's Cambridge Research Laboratories, at Hanscom Field, in Bedford. The system is being sponsored by the Office of Aerospace Research, in Washington, D.C.

This is Avco's first contract of an entire system, from design through the testing and ultimate delivery.

Dr. Ralph W. Detra, Division Vice President of Avco, and General Manager looks forward to the successful accomplishment of this program, and the application of the extensive systems engineering of Avco, and its hardware design experience, to the scientific exploration of space.

The contract is scheduled to run 18 months, in design, fabrication, integration, testing and launch support of the Magnetic Storm Satellite. The development of the 105 pound spacecraft will be in the System Division's Wilmington facility.

A 5 stage Scout booster is to launch the Magnetic Storm Satellite (MSS) into a highly elliptical orbit - 200 by 17,000 nautical miles - from Wallops Island, Va. The MSS is intended to study magnetic storm activity in the Earth's magnetosphere, by making precise measurements of electric and magnetic fields and proton and electric densities and energies. MSS is the first satellite designed to study magnetic storms with such a high level of precision.

The program responsibility has been assigned to the Division's Space Systems Program Office, under the direction of Dr. Ronald J. Massa, and the Project Manager is John B. Beaumont.

The MSS program is a joint Air Force / NASA effort. The Air Force is providing the spacecraft and experiments, and NASA is providing the Scout boost vehicle and the orbital data reception and command services.

NEW HOMES IN WILMINGTON: Built in 1969, by the Jackson Brothers, in a tract of land once called 'The Plains' easterly from Parker Street. The entire development is just about complete.

Bill Fay said that he was the only member of the School Board who had been in favor of a new high school, but that he had changed his mind after legislation had been passed in 1958 allowing state financial aid for the remodeling of the older school buildings.

Not at Annual Town Meeting

There will be no article at the annual Town Meeting asking for an appropriation for the new school but there may be articles for the taking of the land needed.

Chairman James Banda of the Board of Selectmen felt that the town would be 'pushing time', and then said that there could be a special town meeting, soon after the regular one, to vote for construction of the addition to the high school. Banda pointed out that there was only 45 days to the time of the Annual Town Meeting.

Banda wanted to know about the estimated cost of the land. He was told that no firm commitments had been made, but that the late Harold Shea, superintendent of schools, had talked with adjacent land owners. He and Mr. Frotten had agreed on an exchange of rights of way (once voted, in the annual Town Meeting, about 1961, Ed.), and that he had also talked with the Pastor of the First Baptist Church about mutual use of a parking lot in back of that church.

Still left for negotiations was the Fenton property (4.1 acres). The Luongo land, which is being used by Mr. Luongo for a chicken farm, would have to be taken by eminent domain.

Only a small portion of Luongo's land, in back of the High School football field, would be needed, Pierce said. He was suggesting moving the bleachers over to the portion to be acquired, so that spectators would be facing the High School, instead of the present site. This would give more room, Pierce said, and allow the use of the present field.

A couple of possible snags appeared, in the subsequent conversations.

Selectman George Boylen said that the present Grange Hall property was not the property of the town - that the purchase (voted last year) had been turned down for 'illegal wording' in the vote, by the state. Town Counsel Alan Altman said that nothing had been done since. Selectman Miceli said he had recently been talking with Grange officials, and that it was 'just a matter' of rewording the Town Meeting article.

The matter of an agreement with the church for common use of a parking lot had several opinions expressed.

Bob Michelson recommended that the land taking be negotiated through eminent domain, sales agreements, and documents with the church. Sterling Morris, Town Manager, wanted to know what kind of negotiations could be made with the church, since, he said, the town could not spend money on church property. It was his opinion that the town could not 'go anywhere' with the church. The legal points had to be determined, he said, before the Town could proceed.

Town Counsel Alan Altman rose to say he had been wondering in his own mind about this point. He had enquired, he said, of the SBAB for an opinion.

Pierce admitted that he did not know about this. Altman added that it must be explored, because the town could not spend money on church property.

Morris said he hoped that this would not influence the decision on the site, and Pierce said that the town could put on of the athletic fields across the street, if necessary, since the town had other land there.

Arthur Smith of Woburn Street, a member of the PBC, thought that it would be impossible to work with the church property. It was, he pointed out, not the property of the First Baptist Church, but rather of the Baptist Convention, in Boston.

They should remember, Smith said, that the Roman House was not anything 'special' and that it could be removed, as could the Maintenance Building, behind it. It was his opinion that these buildings could go, when they were talking about millions of dollars in renovation and development.

The last statement was by Madelyn McKie, of the Wilmington Planning Board. She hoped that the schools and PBC would remember to consult with the Planning Board as to the development of the land. To this they acquiesced.

The 80th Christmas

His eightieth birthday was 'just wonderful' the Rev. Stanley Cummings of Deerfield declared, on Christmas Day.

Bennington Vt., Wilmington and Buckland Mass., and six months as a Chaplain in the US Army in World War I.

TWO BOXES STILL TO GO: Was the situation on December 25th in the afternoon, as the Rev. Stanley Cummings, assisted by his granddaughter Justine Golden, sorts through the flood of cards he received on his eightieth birthday.

The retired Pastor of the Wilmington Congregational Church had had no idea that his daughter, Lois Golden of Bayside, LI, NY had arranged with friends in all his former pastorates for a flood of Christmas Cards and letters, and on Christmas afternoon the Rev. Mr. Cummings had not been able to get halfway through the flood of good wishes sent to him.

Mr. Cummins observed his 80th birthday on Dec. 23rd.

Mrs. Golden made arrangements with the Deerfield Postoffice that any card for him with 'Dec. 23' as a part of the address should be held in the Postoffice, and that all would be delivered on the same day.

In his years of service to the church, he has served pastorates in Sheffield Mass., St. Albans Vt.,

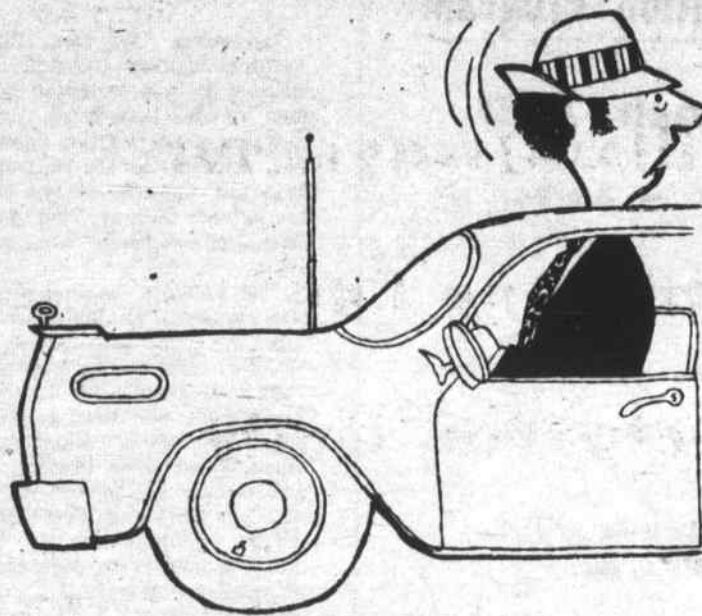

From all his former pastorates the cards and good wishes came.

Present for the Sunday dinner were Mr and Mrs Richard Golden and Abbot Cummings, now the assistant Curator of the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities, Cambridge St. Boston, together with the 8 year old daughter of Mr and Mrs Golden - named Justina.

They had been busy all of Dec. 23 and 24, opening cards, reading letters, etc., and when the Town Crier arrived on Christmas afternoon the job was not yet complete.

Mrs Cummings was not able to be present - she is a patient in a rest home, but the Town Crier was told that she is doing nicely.

It was, without a doubt, the nicest birthday that the Rev. Stanley Cummings had had.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wade Greer of Mt. Pleasant, Texas and Cambridge Mass. Mr. Greer was a manufacturer of machinery for the food industry.

The groom is a prominent Massachusetts industrialist. He was president of the J. W. Greer Co., of Wilmington and Overseas Subsidiaries, now a part of the Joy Manufacturing Company. He is a former president of Associated Industries of Massachusetts. Currently he is the president of the Harvard Trust Company of Cambridge, Mass. Mr. Greer holds degrees from Harvard Engineering School, where he was elected to Tau Beta Pi, and Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He was previously married to the late Charlotte Wedgewood Mason of Winchester, Mass.

The bride graduated from Science Hill School for Girls, Shelbyville, Ky., and attended Miss Moxley's School, in Rome, Italy. She is a graduate of Pembroke College in Brown University and has done post-graduate work in Columbia University. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and as Associate Member of Sigma Xi. She is a member and past president of the Junior League of Bridgeport, and a member of the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America in the State of Connecticut. She was formerly a board member and officer of a number of social service organizations in Connecticut. Her marriage to Marshall M. Bassick of Fairfield, Conn., terminated in divorce.

Mrs. Greer served for several years on the Executive Staff of the Association of Junior Leagues of America, Inc., as a Program Consultant to the member Leagues throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. She has traveled abroad extensively, and until her marriage, was associated with Four Winds Travel, Inc. of New York City.

The wedding was attended by the families of the bride and groom. Mrs. Greer's children are Marshall M. Bassick, Jr., of Fairfield Conn., Mrs. Anthony J Rosenthal of Pacific Palisades, Calif., and Barret M. Bassick of San Francisco. Mr. Greer's children are Mrs. Edward Prescott Williams of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mrs. Stuart P. Carlyle of Madison, Conn.

He is called The Bader, and still practices blood-drawing, teeth-pulling, and pimple-boil-and-carbuncle-treating. He also cuts hair and shaves whiskers.

Send your announcements to Nancy, Box 208, Wilmington or call 657-7141, and after five, 658-4865. If I'm not there, then I'll call you!

Well, hello there...Did you all recover from the Christmas blahs? Well, this chick is back in the groove after running the Town youth center at the Clark Hut this last week and a half. And my heartfelt thanks to all of you for your beautiful cards and gifts. We certainly didn't expect anything like came to this Gal. You are the best folk in the best Town!

You ready? Cards this week to Jerry Pizutti, of the No Wil Cleaner Fame who has been at the NE Memorial for tests and is at home recuperating on Marcia Road.

Also to Mrs Elizabeth Powers at the Normandie Nursing Home in Melrose, where she is residing with her broken hip. (We certainly miss her shining countenance on that 10:20 train at the Depot)

Kids, your youth center at Villanova Hall is laid up again and won't be opened on the 2nd schedule. It seems that it is getting a complete new outfit and won't be ready. Opening time will be announced later in the TC

Didja hear? Three of the gals from Town that work at Valle's Steak House as waitresses won themselves a place in the Sun this week. Leona Egan of Dadant Drive, Evelyn Cushing of Washington Avenue, and Margie Walsh of Adams Street were all winners. Valle's has chartered a plane to Miami and they are all taking that trip expenses paid with spending money yet. (Knew I was in the wrong job...Have a vacation for me, Kids...Can't think of anything I'd enjoy more right now!)

Larry Cushing tells this Chick that there were about 100 registrations for the Gals from Willie 18 and over at the Physical Fitness Program on Thursday night. Betty Landrigan, that capable little gal in charge called Help and Larry got her an assistant, Alma Dearth of Westford, so now they are all equipped for your one, two, three, four on Thursday night, Jan 8 from 7-9:30 pm. Park in the lighted lot behind the high school off Adams Street, and we'll assume the back door will be open if not you can run around the building a couple of times to warm up. And we'll be looking for all of those lovely dolls with their new figures in that Easter Parade!

Now, we heard from Johnny Parker, whom we believe is in Nam: Dear Nancy, I would like to thank you very much for the wonderful Christmas card and the little Christmas tree. I really enjoyed it very much.

I know everyone else who received one is just as happy as I. It meant so much to know everyone is thinking of us at this holiday to come. We won't be home for this special day, but everyone will be in our thoughts. I would like to wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

"Thank you again, Johnny Parker. P.S. Give my thanks to Nellie and all the gals that helped out to make us happy."

(And thanks to you, Johnny for your kind words. It was our pleasure. That's the least we could do for you fellas...wish it could have been more...and to you folks Johnny is Nellie's nephew, we do believe, so I am certain he has thanked her individually also... Thanks for loaning her to us, John. It must be great to have an aunt like that!)

Now, back at the Hut...#2 Son left in the middle of all that sleet for Ft Lewis and called us when he arrived. Said it was slightly rough, but he wasn't too seasick (He hates to fly.) When he got back, he found a surprise, he said...He thinks he's scheduled for Germany...Is he ever lucky! Wonder if they take mothers in the US Army! Hmmm...we'll have to see about that! Things are still rocking and rolling because the rest of the group returns to school on Sunday...and we have extras coming and going all of the time...But we wouldn't have it any other way!

Now, The Clan joins me in wishing you a Very Happy New Year, and in the middle of this great country with its many growing changes, please stop and think about how happy and proud you are to be an American!

Wildcats Drop Thriller

In a very dramatic finish, the Redmen of Tewksbury won their first game of the season, as they edged the Wildcats hoop team 50-48 last week in the only conference game to be played by our boys until Jan 6. Playing without junior center Dennis Murphy, the Wildcats top rebounder, the boys fell behind early in the contest as they were unable to get a second shot at the basket as they were out-rebounded consistently.

THE Redmen led after two periods, 32-19 and after three, 43-36. But in the final stanza, the Wildcats closed the gap to two points with 25 seconds left in the game. At this point, senior forward Alan Heim was fouled and made a good one-and-one free throw to tie the game at 48-48. Tewksbury put the ball in play and moved the ball around as they were looking for the one good shot which might win the ball game. The shot never came, but as the buzzer sounded Leverone fouled Dana Singleton who proceeded to make the free throws and notch the Redmen victory 50-48.

In the other games played at the high school on Tuesday afternoon, the Freshmen won their initial game of the season with a 30-24 triumph of the Tewksbury

Junior High team. Bob Gillis, with 12 pts and Jason Platt with 9 paced the Frosh. The Jayvees also won their first game of the year as they edged the Redmen Jr Varsity 42-36. Bob Conlin paced the victor with 10 points. Tom Beaton and Bob Noel chipped in with nine points apiece.

Other conference games played last week included No Andover's 56-54 victory over previously undefeated Chelmsford, while Billerica continued unbeaten as they drubbed Burlington 81-47 and Methuen defeated hapless Dracut 47. The varsity team played a non-league encounter at Lawrence Vocational Tuesday and will return to conference play on Tuesday as they travel to Chelmsford to play the Lions. Next home game is Friday Jan 9th against the Red Devils of Burlington High.

Wildcats Streak Snapped, 5 - 1

The Golden Warriors of Andover High snapped the Wildcats undefeated string of 17 consecutive games, during which the icemen had won 13 and tied four with a 5-1 win over the Wildcats Christ mas Crew. The last team to beat the Wildcats, in league competition, oddly enough was this same Andover Club by a 7-1 count early last year.

After a scoreless opening period Andover drilled four second stanza goals past Dana Tighe in the nets. The first goal came early in the period and snapped Tighe's unscorred streak at seven periods and 79 consecutive minutes of action. Junior left wing Dave Irwin connected for the lone Wildcat goal with junior defense man Mike Esposito picking up his fifth assist. Andover scored again late in the final period to ice the victory.

On Saturday afternoon, the boys exploded for five second period goals en route to a 8-1 romp with Chelmsford. This game could prove costly as defenseman Mike Esposito suffered a possible broken wrist and may be lost for the season.

League leading scorer sophomore Pete Tighe banged in two goals and added three assists to spark the Wildcats in a very rough game where 15 penalties were whistled, nine of which were called against the Lions. Capt Jim Irwin also scored two goals, and now has four for the season. Rounding out the scoring parade were freshman wing Frank McLean, juniors Ray York, Dave Irwin, and Steve Catalano with one goal apiece.

The Wildcats completely dominated the game outshooting the Lions by a wide margin, 42-17.

In league action, this past week, Burlington kept pace with the Wildcats as they won a pair of games 5-1 over Masconomet and 2-1 verdict over Andover.

Billerica eluded the cellar with a 3-2 victory over Tewksbury and Masconomet also dropped Tewksbury on Saturday afternoon 4-2.

Two big games are on the cards for the icemen this week. On Wednesday afternoon, they tangled with Burlington in a battle for first place and on Saturday another nemesis the Chieftains of Masconomet will provide the opposition at the Forum.

Inflation the Number One Problem says Middlesex Bank Prexy

Tight money and high interest rates were prediced by Joseph P Healey, President of Middlesex Bank, at the Mortgage Finance Seminar held in Boston last week.

Sponsored by the Greater Boston Real Estate Board, the affair brought together four hundred leaders in the Real Estate Mortgage Field for discussion.

Mr Healey stated that 'Inflation remains our major domestic problem...and We should not expect an easing of short-term money rates at least until next spring. Long-term rates, which are influenced by a worldwide shortage of capital, will remain relatively high well into the future.'

There are many different ways to measure, mark and level.

The zig-zag folding wood rule is probably one of the simplest and basic -- yet widely used today.

Today it is and ideal complement to the tape measure handy for taking or laying off long or short measurements: it is stiff enough to measure across openings with ease.

The thin, metal extension rule built into one of the end sections is particularly useful for inside measurements: the reading on the extension is added to the length of the opened rule.

Important Meeting for H.S. Parents Jan 6

The Acting Superintendent of Schools, Walter H. Pierce, is inviting parents to a meeting to be held next Tuesday at 8 pm (Jan. 6th) in the High School Auditorium. All parents of students in grades 8 to 11 are being asked to attend.

The purpose of the meeting is to review, with the parents, the course offerings, on the Course Selection Form, which the pupils will be taking home on January 5th.

By attending the parents will have an opportunity to ask questions, prior to filling out the form for September, 1970, the start of the new school year.

High School administration and guidance personnel are to be present at the meeting, and will outline just how the document, of importance to the future of their children, should be completed.

WALTER PIERCE, Acting Superintendent of Schools, shown at the Monday night meeting in the High School, talking of the plans for an addition to Wilmington High School.

Previous discussions had indicated that there might be a new High School, costing perhaps $12 millions.

The Fourth Annual Military Ball

Charles 'Silky' Southmayd, Drum Major of the Wilmington Crusaders, and his lady, Miss Pauline Swerchesky, led the Grand March, Monday evening, in the Elks Hall in Tewksbury, for the Fourth Annual Military Ball for the Wilmington Crusaders.

Over 300 persons were present for the event. Coming the longest distance were the members of the Blessed Sacrament Corps of New Jersey, and among the other guests were members from the Lakes Regionnaires of Laconia, NH, and the Royal Cadets of Gardner, who had the honor of having the King and Queen named from their corps.

It was, the Crusaders report, a 'wonderful time in a wonderful hall'.

New Year Greetings

We can't ring bells, but we can say, simply and sincerely, "Happy New Year" and "Thank You" to our friends.
